Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm a full-stack engineer who's spent the past two years building things that actually matter to users. Whether it's architecting a multi-tenant SaaS platform from scratch or integrating AI to automate tedious workflows, I genuinely enjoy solving complex problems and seeing the impact of my work. My sweet spot is at the intersection of clean architecture and emerging technologies, particularly around AI and automation.

What gets me excited is working on products where I can contribute across the entire stack. At The Leading Practice, I built an AI conversation hub that handles emails, SMS, and live chat in one place, complete with intelligent routing and context-aware responses. Before that, at Relevic, I created a drag-and-drop campaign builder and an analytics system that gave our clients real insights into user behavior. I've also had the chance to work with Fortune 500 clients at SimplifyVms, where I learned the importance of shipping reliable features under tight deadlines while maintaining code quality.

I'm drawn to teams that value curiosity, collaboration, and continuous learning. I believe the best solutions come from understanding both the technical challenges and the user problems we're trying to solve. I'd love to chat about how my experience in building scalable systems and integrating AI could contribute to your team's goals.

Looking forward to connecting,
Moiz Nafey
